

The Crown Heights Film Festival (CHFF) on October 28 & 29 will bring exceptional local and international short film to Central Brooklyn audiences. The festival showcases a curated selection of short films: narratives, animation, documentaries, and cross-disciplinary/-experimental films. Our mission is to provide a voice and opportunities for filmmakers in short form, to foster cross-arts collaboration, and to provide a social forum for filmmakers, Central Brooklyn residents, and the wider arts community.

This festival will include 20+ films including All Tru-ish (Mina Mir), Ben Jones: Consciousness Rules (Lisa and Gregg Mann), Eggs and Soldiers (Imelda O'Reilly), Gagarine (Fanny Liard and Jeremy Trouilh), Luther Von Shaft (Christopher Williams).

Crown Heights Film Festival is hosted by FiveMyles Gallery located in Crown Heights, Brooklyn.

FiveMyles Gallery is a 501©3 not-for-profit exhibition and performance space where art and community connect. Featured works focus on giving emerging, merited, and well-established artists the opportunity to present their work in solo and group exhibitions. Place, personal vision, politics, identity and experimentation are an integral part of programming at FiveMyles.

Visit <http://www.fivemyles.org/crown-heights-film-festival> or contact info@fivemyles.org for more information about the Crown Heights Film Festival and to view the festival schedule. To learn about the past festivals, please go to www.crownheightsfilms.org.

(132)