

“Look, there’s this dough, see? There’s all this dough. 350 G’s! Do ya hear what I’m sayin’? 350 G’s! In the park, in Rosita... Rosita Beach State Park...” And if you know where that line comes from, you are in for a real treat! Film historian Paul Scrabo offers insight on the creation and restoration of Stanley Kramer’s slapstick epic “It’s a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World” — it will be the most fun this side of that Big W!

“The Online Movie Show” is produced at the Platinum Wolfe Studios. And a special thank you to Kevin Macleod for the beautiful classical music selection.

(16)